The building, in three frames

Tries to tell the talk's 43-second animation M01 on paper with three stills, the time in the beat and the words that were on screen, nothing redrawn.

Made from M01 v1, `src/static/motion/lab/the-building/v1/index.html` in the talk's repository (last changed at `5d13d72`, 29 October 2026, 18:29 UTC; unchanged at 298be4e), seeked on its own clock by headless Chromium, light theme.

Leaves out the opening (0 to 5 s: the empty plan, one way in, a corridor that splits) and every walk between the stills.

FRAME 1 OF 3 · PEOPLE

Most turned left. Now and then, one found the gold.

Look left: every person who got in stopped in a room of small things. Look right: the few who found the gold are the only red ones.

FRAME 2 OF 3 · AGENTS

Agents: more of them, and they keep going.

Same door, same plan. The dark figures in the corridor are agents still arriving; the red ones in the rooms are not staying there.

FRAME 3 OF 3 · THE STILL

People stop at a room. Agents don't stop.

Red: doing damage. A pattern, not a count (the animation's own footnote: the figures are not a number from the day). Red shows capability, not intent: the talk's agents were a benign team.

For the editor, on paper: does the story survive without the motion? Keep, change (which frame, which words), or drop.
